NUMBER 147

H. C. BROKAW UP BEFORE JUDGE THIS MORNING

Merchants, Manufacturers' and Employers' Association Manager and Three of His "Detectives" to Get a Hearing.

All Charged With Having Dynamite Unlawfully in Their Possession—Union Heads to Attend the Trial.

The preliminary hearing of H. C. Brokaw, manager of the M. M. & E.; J. P. Emerson, Richard Carlisle and Fred Wilson, all charged with having dynamite unlawfully in their possession, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock before Justice Hayden at Martinez.

The prosecution has subpoenaed a number of witnesses, among whom are Chief of Police Briare of Stockton, Policemen Fredericks and Carroll also of Stockton; Remize, who was dismissed in Stockton when given a preliminary hearing on the same charge that Brokaw and the others are being held on; several employees of the Hercules Powder Company; the Bay Point agent; Mrs. Olsen and Mrs. Engle, proprietors of the Bay Point Hotel.

It is charged that dynamite was stolen from a freight car at Bay Point, taken by automobile to Stockton. Emerson confessed that this dynamite was to be "planted" under the Stockton Hotel, the headquarters of the strike-breakers during the open shop fight, and on the premises of certain non-union factories. These plants, declared Emerson, were to have been "accidentally" discovered and blamed on the union men.

Olaf Treltmo, Anton Johannsen and several others were to have been charged with planting the dynamite. Thomas J. Mooney, who was acquitted of a dynamite charge, was also, it is said, to have been implicated in the plot.

Emerson is in jail at Martinez. The other three are out on $2500 bail apiece.

Attorneys Rogers and Bray will represent the accused men. Assistant District Attorney Ormsby will prosecute the case. Attorney Maxwell McNutt, representing the unions, will also be present.

It is probable that Attorney Atherson of Stockton will be present representing the Merchants, Manufacturers' and Employers' Association.

Olaf Treltmo, Michael Casey, Fred W. Heckman and a number of other prominent trades unionists of the state will be present.

Will She Get That License?

40 Pounds of High Explosive Puzzle to Poundmaster

What is going to become of the forty pounds of dynamite belonging to the Western Reclamation Company, which was discovered in a launch near Ellis Landing last Saturday, is a question that is causing Poundmaster Smith no little worry. As yet no representative of the company that owns the dynamite has called up to claim it.

Smith hasn't any hesitating to have it stored in the pound. He would be much relieved if it was taken away. Smith doesn't need the dynamite. He kills the dogs in other ways.

He figures that if the dynamite ever went off, the dogs would not be the only sufferers. "Take the dynamite away," is his plea.

"I don't care where you take it, but just get it out of my sight."

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED BY B. T. COUNCIL THURSDAY

The various unions affiliated with the Building Trades Council were well represented at that body last evening.

Owing to a technical point in reference to the eligibility of delegates, the seating of delegates for the ensuing terms was deferred until next Thursday evening.

At the next meeting of the council nominations will be opened for the officers for the next six months and a full attendance of the new delegates is requested.

J. O. Gibbons was admitted and addressed the council concerning a proposed bill for the State Legislature, providing for the deeding of a certain percentage of new subdivisions of cities to the city, thus providing the city without direct cost sufficient land for public use.

No action was taken in the matter, awaiting the drafting of the bill.

Efforts will be made by the council to procure data on all pending enactments of the Legislature as fast as they are brought up, thus giving the membership an opportunity to acquaint themselves with what is being done at the Capital.

The bill now before the Legislature regarding the compulsory licensing of all steam engineers, with some necessary exceptions, was brought up for consideration and unanimously endorsed by the council.

Mrs. Montgomery, Alais Farrens, Has Not Yet Applied for License

That Mrs. Edna Montgomery has failed to live up to her agreement with the Richmond Daily News, is the belief of Walter La Selle, of the furniture firm of La Selle & Wright, located in the La Selle building.

Today is Mrs. Montgomery's last chance to get a rooming house license without paying a percentage of the license cost for being delinquent.

She has not yet applied for a license. When she does, will it be granted her?

She has told local people that "I mean to run the fourth floor of the La Selle building as I please."

La Selle said last night "My candid opinion is that she means to 'start business' as soon as she gets a license. Her presence has not helped my business. I would like to see her get out and get out soon. She has leased the building with the understanding that only a 'straight' rooming house would be tolerated."

"I believe that it is up to the chief of police to recommend that no license be issued her. The license she has is a hard one to break and to refuse her a license seems to be the only practical way of forcing her to leave the building."

The following girls were employed in Mrs. Montgomery's Stockton house of prostitution. Are you going to stand for their importation to this city?

Florence Adams, Grace Davis, Georgia Davis, Teddie Raymond, Evelyn Wells, Marie Bennett, Marie Sherwood, Marie Rhodes, Lottie Rice, Violet Wallace, Laura Moore, Miss Pauline Miller, Clara Randles, Florence Gardner, Fay Morgan and 25 others. A number of them were forced to leave Stockton because they were even too degenerate for the Stockton redlight district.

CONFERENCE FAILS TO END STRIKE ON HOSPITAL

At the conference between Fred Heckman, representing the Contra Costa Building Trades Council, and Anton Johannsen of the State Building Trades Council, the three members of the contracting firm of Boyd, McLean & Kerr, in San Francisco, no settlement was reached as to the unfair county hospital job.

The contractors proposed to put union laborers to work, but refused to take off scab painters.

The union men absolutely refused to consider the suggestion. It is believed, however, that the job will be shortly unionized throughout.

LOCKSMITH MOVES.

John Zimmerman, gun, locksmith and bicycle man, has moved his business from 362 Macdonald avenue to 369 Macdonald avenue. Zimmerman has fitted up a modern shop.

Mrs. Montgomery, we think, has not decided to reform. She should not be granted a license.

We address this to the mothers and fathers of Richmond. Make yourself heard and force the denial of her license.

POPULAR COUPLE WED AT HOME CEREMONY

John Kenneth Keeton and Lavinia Brent became man and wife yesterday afternoon at a wedding in the home of the bride's parents, 223 South Sixth street.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Rev. Calfee tied the knot at 2 o'clock. C. F. Van Dusen was best man and Miss Mable A. Brint bridesmaid.

Following the ceremony a banquet was served. Only close friends and relatives of the couple were present.

Keeton is a Santa Fe fireman and is well known here. His bride was formerly a pupil at the local high school and has a large number of friends in Richmond.

LOCAL WOMAN'S FUNERAL HELD

The body of Mrs. Mary A. Germanhausen, who died at the Graven hospital several days ago, following a serious operation, was buried yesterday afternoon in Sunset View cemetery following services in Smallwood's undertaking parlors, at which Rev. Calfee officiated.

Many friends of the dead woman were present, and the casket was banked high with their floral offerings.

STANDARD BAND MAKES FIRST SHOWING IN PUBLIC

Many music lovers gathered at the corner of Sixth and Macdonald last night to hear the initial open air concert of the newly organized concert band of the Standard Oil Co.'s employees. Last night's performance was a very creditable one and it made a big hit with the assembled throng. Half a dozen musical hits were played before the program ended.

Much of the credit for the organization of the band is due to John Mills, the leader.

Big preparations are being made for the band dance to be given at East Shore Park tomorrow night. The committee in charge is making preparations for a large crowd. Many novel features are planned.

MOVES TO RICHMOND.

Richard C. Taylor, office employee of the Standard Oil Company, who has been residing in Oakland for the month, plans to move back to Richmond today or tomorrow. He will stop at 356 Sixth street.

Loses Purse—Daily News Ad Finds It: Bill Lane Helped

There is nothing like the "Lost" ad. column of the Daily News for restoring property to its rightful owners. This has been proved many times. It was proved again yesterday to the perfect satisfaction of Mrs. T. C. Mark, well known local matron.

Several days ago Mrs. Mark lost her purse containing several dollars and some personal papers that she prizes highly.

The purse was found by an honest person, Councilman William Lane.

Lane looked through the "Lost" column of the News, and saw the finder of the purse was to bring it to the News office.

He brought the purse to the News office, and Mrs. Mark received it twenty minutes after it was left here.

TUNNEL BOSS IS ATTACKED BY AUSTRIAN LABORER

Sam Rodman, gigantic Austrian laborer, employed on the tunnel, last night attacked J. B. McBeer, foreman of the cement workers, and before the fight was over McBeer was badly beaten about the face and head.

The fight took place on Washington avenue. McBeer claims he was walking toward Richmond avenue when the big Austrian approached him, and calling him vile names, stated he was going "to beat his head off."

Without wasting any time after making his threat, Rodman hit McBeer. The fight that resulted from the blow was an unequal one. McBeer is a man of medium height, well built and muscular, but he is twice the age of the young laborer and weighs at least 150 pounds less.

According to McBeer, the fight lasted about ten minutes. Not until the big Austrian is alleged to have beaten him almost into unconsciousness did he satisfy his grudge.

McBeer was a sorry appearing spectacle when he appeared at the police station to have Rodman arrested. There was a big swelling under his left eye, and his face was cut in many places. His wounds were cleansed by Night Sergeant Barry.

An hour after the fight Rodman was arrested at the corner of Santa Fe and Standard avenues. He asserted he did not know why he had been arrested.

When brought into the police station he started to berate the man he had fought with.

According to McBeer, Rodman has been in an ugly mood since he (McBeer) had reprimanded him and threatened to discharge him unless he picked up in his work.

McBeer will swear to a charge of assault and battery before Judge Lindsey this morning.

Rodman is one of the largest men in town. He is about 6 feet 2 inches in height, and weighs in the neighborhood of 300 pounds. He is possessed of prodigious strength, and is known as a man who is troublesome at times.

His arrest last night makes the fifth time he has landed in the police net.

REGULATION OF SALOON PETERSON'S TOPIC

West Side Pastor Urges That Good Government League Be Formed.

Church People Are Taken to Task for Not Making Demands.

In a speech delivered before the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, at the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, Rev. T. E. Peterson, pastor of the First Methodist church, advocated stricter saloon regulation in Richmond and took the church members of the city to task for not appearing before the city council and making their wants known often.

In his speech Peterson earnestly advocated the formation of a Good Government League in this city, which will deal with local vice problems and see that the saloon ordinances are lived up to in every letter. Peterson proposed a change in the ordinance governing local liquor houses. The ordinance he proposed is patterned after that of Oakland to a great extent.

Some of the changes that he advocated in his talk were that applications for saloon licenses must be advertised at least two weeks prior to the time the license comes before the council for passage; that no owner of a saloon or a man owning property where it is proposed to conduct a saloon shall have his name on the petition for the granting or renewal of a license, that the age limit in the saloons in the city be raised from 18 to 21 years, that there be only one entrance to a saloon, and that the annual license fee be raised from $500 to $600.

He further stated that saloons should close at midnight instead of 1 a. m. and that they should not be allowed to open until 6 a. m. instead of 5 a. m.

Complaints against saloons should be heard before the council and not in the police court, said Peterson.

He said that in the 1911 charter, provision was made that no transfers of saloon licenses should be granted, or new licenses given out until the number of saloons in existence in the city had been decreased to 25. He declared that by actual count there are 30 saloons in Richmond and that 29 of these are on the west side. Some of the saloons, he said, came into being in the city of Richmond when the city annexed outlying communities.

Rev. Peterson said that one person should not be allowed to sign more than one petition for the establishment of a saloon. The signers, he continued, should reside in the places immediately adjacent to the site where it is proposed to establish a saloon.

"The church people and the reform element of the city have not done their duty in regard to the question of saloon regulation," said the divine.

"I believe they should make their wants known just as the saloon keepers do. It is only through concerted effort that we can hope to remedy some conditions in Richmond that we do not like to see," he stated.

Peterson said there is a growing need for the establishment of a Good Government League in Richmond. He asked those church members and members of the W. C. T. U. present at the meeting to pick out and send him names of responsible men whom they think will make good

Clerks Win Big Victory! Women Become Members

After a quiet, but very effective campaign, the local Clerks' Union has won out and last night initiated two women clerks.

The balance of the women clerks will be initiated at the next meeting of the union, January 21.

To T. F. Wilkins, proprietor of the grocery store at Nineteenth and Barrett, belongs the honor of having the first union women clerks. The two initiated last night, Mrs. Alice En-trican and Miss Ella Gary, are both employed by him.

At the next meeting, when the balance of the women clerks will be initiated, five male clerks will be taken into the organization.

When these are added to the membership the union will have enrolled 60 active members, more than it has ever had before.

Winning the ladies over is a big victory for the organization, which is as active and progressive a labor body as there is in the city.

The following officers were installed at the meeting last night:

George Black, president; A. Lambrecht, vice president; treasurer, George Burgess; recording secretary, H. Hollingbough; financial secretary, R. H. Cunningham; guide, Mrs. Alice Entrican; guardian, J. Bottom; delegates to Labor Council, H. Hollingbough, J. Snee, R. H. Cunningham and R. Eubank.

THE DANBURY HATTERS' CASE.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, in the case of the Danbury hatters, seems likely to make Organized Labor very shy of the boycott in future.

The decision affirms the judgment of the Federal Courts of New York against 186 members of the United Hatters of North America, in the sum of $252,000 as exemplary damages from a boycott of the hat manufacturing firm of Loewe & Company of Danbury, Conn.

For three years past, pending the final result of the action, the dwellings, bank savings and other property of the defendants have been under attachment, awaiting the final result of the suit.

The case grew out of a concerted attempt by the United Hatters, in 1902, to unionize all hat factories in the United States. Of eighty-two such factories all but twelve yielded to the demands of the union.

Among the dozen that stood out for the "open shop" was the firm of Loewe & Co., which was boycotted by the United Hatters following a strike. The boycott was backed by the American Federation of Labor, whose officials were later made defendants in an injunction suit arising out of the same boycott.

In August of 1902 the firm brought suit against the union for damages resulting from a boycott through publication of "unfair" and "we don't patronize" lists, alleging this to be in violation of the Sherman Act.

The first decision was given in favor of the firm by the Federal District Court of Connecticut, with a verdict of $74,000 damages, to be trebled in accordance with the punitive provision of the Sherman law.

In 1909 the United States Supreme Court ordered a new trial, but sustained the District Court on points of law. In 1912 the Circuit Court decided for the firm, allowing the full claim of $80,000 to be trebled, with costs to be added.

This is the decision the Supreme Court recently affirmed, holding that a combination and conspiracy, forbidden by the Sherman Act, had been proved against the defendants.

This appears to end the case, so far as the courts are concerned. And the individual defendants are likely to suffer heavily through execution of the judgment for $252,000—approximately $1355 for each of the 186 defendants.

The question has been raised, however, whether enactment of the Clayton Anti-Trust Act by Congress last year does not serve as a barrier to any further suits for damages resulting from a boycott. That act contains the following provision:

"Section VI. That the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce. Nothing contained in the anti-trust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agricultural or horticultural organizations, instituted for the purpose of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations or the members thereof be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade, under the anti-trust laws."

From a careful consideration of that section it appears that while the Clayton Act legalizes labor unions, as such, it protects them only in "lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof."

And the Supreme Court has just held an interstate boycott to be unlawful, as "a conspiracy in restraint of trade," forbidden by the Sherman Act.

The particular point to be noted is that the decision was not directed against the United Hatters as an unlawful organization, but against its illegal action in boycotting a manufacturing concern engaged in interstate commerce.

If, however, boycotting be unlawful under the Federal laws, blacklisting by employers likewise should be under the ban.

Yet recently the United States District Court in Philadelphia dismissed as unwarranted a government suit against the Watch Case Trust, instituted on the ground that it had maintained a virtual blacklist against retailers throughout the country who either had cut prices or bought watch-cases from competitive makers.

The suit was dismissed, despite the court's admission that such blacklisting had been established as a fact.

If the court were right as to the law of this matter, Congress should proceed to make such blacklisting unlawful and punishable.

But much greater is the need of penalizing the blacklisting of workmen by corporations and other employers; often for no other offense than membership in a Labor Union.—Sacramento Bee.

An Episode of the Crescent City

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

It was about 1850 that Arnold Dalmaitre, a cotton factor of New Orleans, went to New York on business.

In the office of a cotton broker in New York was a boy named Alec Tracy, whose health was very delicate. Indeed, the doctors had given him but a short time to live. Tracy, who was but fifteen years old, was assigned to Dalmaitre to perform certain clerical duties and carry messages during the latter's stay in New York. Dalmaitre was one of those men generous, sensitive to their honor, that were typical of the south at that time. He took pity on the boy and, suggesting that a southern climate and a change of scene might restore him to health, offered to take him to New Orleans and give him a position in his office there.

Dalmaitre was a bachelor about forty years old and soon after his return from New York married a woman half his age, celebrated for her beauty. Gay society is usually encumbered with men who consider women a legitimate prey, though the standard of honor in this respect is doubtless higher than it was. A scion of a noble French house, Albert Durier, whose father had left France during the revolution to escape the guillotine, was at that time prominent socially in New Orleans and became devoted to Mme. Dalmaitre. It was not long before his attentions were the subject of remark.

Dalmaitre was not himself socially inclined, and his wife went about a good deal without him. For this reason he did not observe Durier being so much with his wife, and there was no one to caution him except Tracy. The young porterner was conscious of the fact that he owed his life to his benefactor and idolized him. When, therefore, he noticed that Dalmaitre needed a friend to warn him of the danger in which his wife was being placed he considered how he could do so with the least damage to all concerned.

But the more he thought about it the more clearly he saw the difficulties in the way. Not a word could be spoken without bringing on a rupture in Dalmaitre's domestic relations. Tracy believed that the wife was innocent, but imprudent; that she needed to be cautioned, possibly to be withdrawn from the influence of her admirer. This plan, too, he cast aside. Finally he determined to settle the matter with Durier, but in such a way that it would not appear to pertain in any way to the lady.

Meeting Durier at a ball, Tracy, while both were dancing, Durier with Mme. Dalmaitre, purposely shoved him. Durier cast an irritated glance at him, but paid no further attention to the matter. Tracy guided his partner again near Durier and brought about another collision. This time he scowled at Durier, as if to accuse him of being at fault in the matter.

As soon as the music stopped the two men went to another room, where each accused the other of purposely running against him in the dance. Tracy was coolly abusive, tantalizing his enemy into a passion. Finally the latter at a contemptuous remark of Tracy's turned on his heels with the words "You shall hear from me" and, seeking a friend, sent a challenge by him. The episode was witnessed by several persons who gave the cause as it appeared on the surface.

Duelling at that time was the acknowledged method among gentlemen, especially in the south, of settling disputes, and there was a grove not far from the Crescent City where the duels took place. It was arranged that at sunrise the next morning the parties should meet at this grove and settle at the pistol's mouth which of the two men had joggled the other in the dance. Whether Durier suspected the real cause did not appear.

But there was one person who saw through Tracy's act and had learned the consequences shortly after the words that passed between the two men. Tracy was living in bachelor rooms at the time, and he had scarcely got home from the ball when who should appear but Mme. Dalmaitre.

"This affair between you and Mr. Durier must not take place. Why did you not make your demands on me instead of picking this quarrel with him?"

"I do not understand you, madame."

She looked at him keenly for a time, then said, "What do you wish me to do?"

"Nothing."

"My eyes have been opened. I assure you I am perfectly innocent. I will agree never to receive your enemy again. Apologize to him and end the matter between you and him."

"Are you aware that such a course would cause me to be cut by every friend I have?"

"Oh, heavens!"

"You fear that the real cause of the quarrel will be learned by the world."

"I do."

"Very well. I will send an apology to Durier at once."

She seized his hand and kissed it, then, turning, left him.

The next day Tracy told his benefactor that he had determined to return to New York. Dalmaitre endeavored to dissuade him, but without effect. He departed soon after the episode to escape the contempt of the entire social set of New Orleans. Mme. Dalmaitre gave up many of her social ties and devoted herself to her husband.

HIGH DEATH RATE FOR RAILROAD MEN IS TESTIMONY

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Death—figures—was paraded today before members of the arbitration board which is hearing testimony bearing on the demands of Western locomotive engineers and firemen for higher wages.

Testimony bore almost exclusively on the death rate of engineers as compared with other workers. The principal witness was Dr. Henry J. Harris, a statistician of the Library of Congress at Washington.

Dr. Harris presented a long table compiled on data supplied by the records of the Medico-Actuarial investigation, in commenting on which he said:

"According to the table, the occupations conspicuous for their high death rates are first, the miners and workers in stone and clay; second, the locomotive firemen; third, structural iron workers, and fourth, the locomotive engineers."

Where the normal expectancy of death is 100, the actual deaths among firemen is 190, the witness said, and among engineers, 160.

RAILROAD MEN BEING

EXAMINED ON DUTIES

Engineers, firemen and brakemen of the Sacramento division of the S. P. Co. are undergoing educational tests conducted by the committee in charge of the examination.

This car, which is in charge of William Nichols, chairman of the examination committee, arrived some time ago and the committee has been summoning trainmen before it and testing them on their knowledge of railroad matters.

The principal lines of examination are on the time cards, book of rules and block signals. This examination is made once every year so as to assure the company that its trainmen are conversant with their duties.

There are from 400 to 500 trainmen to be examined on the division and the committee will be here at least three weeks.

NEW UNION IS FORMED IN S. F.

A new union to be known as the Sightseeing Solicitors' Union, is being organized in San Francisco. There is no other such organization in the United States. The men who fill up the big sight-seeing busses with visitors have applied for a charter.

Union men, we are all doing it, sending out suits to Mayer's American Cleaning Co. to be cleaned, pressed or repaired. Phone 452. 1116 Macdonald ave. 8-17-tf—Adv.

TO PUT STOCKTON ON ITS FEET AGAIN

Practically every labor body in the state, with the Richmond unions, is going to continue its appropriation toward the relief of the unionists of Stockton until such time as normal business conditions are again established as they were before the recent battle waged there by the unionists against the open shop.

A slump in business in Stockton, which has resulted from the war waged against the unions there, is responsible for a lack of employment for a large number of the union and other workers. Until this condition is relieved, and the Stockton unions are financially able to cope with the situation, it is the plan of the San Francisco unions to give them aid.

LABOR HEAD TO BE CANDIDATE FOR S. F. MAYOR

Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher, president of the S. F. Labor Council, will be a candidate for mayor of San Francisco at the coming election.

This definite announcement was made today through Judge Judge Michael J. Roche, political adviser and intimate friend of Supervisor Gallagher, and corroborated by a score of union labor politicians and other friends of Gallagher.

Richmond now has a population of approximately 22,000. We have room for 100,000 more. Help get that 100,000.

For quality and price Knust's shoes can't be beat. Watch him grow. 1116 Macdonald. 8-17-tf—Adv.

Seven nations involved in war and five neutral European nations

TELLS OF RELIEF WORK IN ZONE OF WAR

In a letter to her sister, Mrs. J. B. Baldwin, wife of the real estate dealer, Mrs. C. W. Cook tells of hospital work being done by Americans in Petrograd.

Mrs. Cook and her husband, who is connected with a drug firm of the Russian capital, arrived in Petrograd a month before the declaration of war. There are about thirty-five American families in Petrograd and they have organized an emergency hospital to help care for the wounded Austrian, German and Russian soldiers that are brought to the city every day.

"Our proposition," writes Mrs. Cook, "met with hearty support from the army heads, and so that we could have a place to care for the wounded, the town hall was placed at our disposal."

GERMAN SHARPSHOOTERS IN THEIR WELL PROTECTED LAIRS.

It is almost impossible for the Allies to dislodge these German sharpshooters, who are entrenched behind this splinter proof sloping shed. The rain of bullets from the Allies' rifles is deflected by the steep incline of the roof of the shelter. The roof completely covers the trench. There is a narrow slit running its entire length through which the sharpshooters fire from behind their straw breastworks. To send a shot through this opening from the ranks of the Allies is almost impossible.

"Tales of a Million Dollars"

$75,000 to Stop the Car

Col. W. S. Rheem was running the "E. S. & S. Street Railway," which ran by the corner of Twenty-third and Macdonald avenue, Richmond. John Nicholl owned the land all around.

"Colonel," said John, "I'll give you a chunk of land on that corner, worth $2000, if you will stop your cars there."

The Colonel remembered the grain fields around that corner and smiled to think that one little piece could be worth $2000. But he stopped the cars.

That was seven years ago. Since then 35 feet have been taken off one side of the piece for streets, and 20 feet off for another. Today it is part of Burg Bros., Nicholl-Macdonald Ave. Business Center Tract.

And the last report says that it has been sold to a Los Angeles for $75,000!

John Nicholl knew what that piece was worth—and what it was going to be worth. The way he appraised it is exactly the way we outline in our book, "How to Buy Real Estate for Profit." YOU can do it—for we will send this book FREE FOR MAILING THE COUPON BELOW.

Chas. Chaplin in "The Trysting Place," at the Richmond today

Dustin Farnum in "Cameo Kirby," the new Lasky production, which is to be seen at the Richmond theater today and tomorrow, is a romantic drama of New Orleans and the Far South in the days before the war, when gentlemen adventurers really lived and the spirit of daring had not become commercialized. "Cameo Kirby," the son of a bankrupt plantation owner, with a native fondness for gambling, is the hero of the tale, which involves a story of true love that runs far from smoothly, but comes to a happy conclusion. Young Kirby gets his name, "Cameo," through his fondness for cameos of every size, shape and description, which he wears in place of all other adornment. The cameo, now comparatively little used, is in itself reminiscent of the era of the play. "Cameo Kirby" is presented by Jesse L. Lasky through a special arrangement with the Lasky Company.

In addition to this beautiful Southern drama, Charles Chaplin, the favorite comedian of the Keystone Company, has a new screen in "The Trysting Place."

WHY NOT A CITY LEAGUE ASK RICHMOND FANS

Why not a city league, to be composed of teams from various lodges in this city? Why not, the fans of Richmond ask.

The league could be a four-team affair, or there could be twenty clubs in it. The number of competing teams would make no difference, only the more clubs there are entered in a race of this kind the keener is the interest and the merrier the race.

Although no definite plans have been announced, it is known that several of the lodges of the city are planning to have ball teams. When the lodges get the leaders selected, why can't the leaders get together and form a league? The lodge baseball league plan has been tried in nearly every city in the United States. Inasmuch as the lodge members are always interested in the success of their club, those behind the league can always depend on good gates.

A city league would encourage the local bushers to get in the game and condition themselves. There is undoubtedly a lot of first-class baseball material in Richmond that has never been developed. The proposed league would develop this material.

For those who want Sunday recreation out in the open the league offers plenty of inducements.

The games could all be played on Sunday morning and there would be no interference with Bill Luce's gang of colts.

The expense of maintaining the league would be practically nothing. About the only expense would be the purchasing of uniforms, bats and balls.

Let's have the league. What do you say? Who's going to start something?

PLAN A REVIVAL OF BOXING GAME

How would you like to see the boxing game revived in California, Mister Richmond fight fan?

We have a hunch that you would once more like to see famous ring characters showing their wares for your approval or disapproval.

You may see some more fighting in California, and before very long. Several of the men in the Legislature are former boxers, and still like the old game. And there are many ardent fight fans in the legislative halls.

A bill is in preparation that will legalize six or ten round bouts. The bill provides for a boxing commission. This commission shall regulate the fighting game. The state will get a certain percentage of the gate receipts as is the custom in other states where boxing is recognized by the state government.

The bill will come up before the Legislature adjourns.

PETALUMA MANAGER SAYS "NO" WHEN APPROACHED ON SUBJECT OF LEAGUE BALL

Petaluma does not favor the six-club independent league, which was proposed some time ago by Manager Bill Luce of the Elks. Luce, in an endeavor to ascertain what Manager Healey of the Petalumas thinks of the proposition, called him up yesterday. Healey said he would not consider the proposed league, as his colts will play independent ball during the 1915 season.

Healey stated he could not see the merits of a league.

Luce proposed an organization to be composed of clubs from Richmond, Vallejo, Napa, Martinez, Petaluma and San Rafael. The merit to his proposition is plainly apparent. The league is a fairly compact one. All of the towns on the circuit are good baseball towns, with the possible exception of Napa. With the right manager at the helm in Napa, baseball could be made to pay there.

The refusal of Manager Healey of Petaluma to even consider the matter knocks the plans for the league in the head.

With plans for two leagues under consideration, Luce is doing some figuring these days. To the fans of the city the State League proposition looks the best, but it is hard to tell what developments the next two weeks will bring forth.

Manager Healey stated to Luce, during the telephonic conversation, that he hoped it could be arranged so that Richmond and his boys will tangle for a five-game series again this year. Two of these games, if the series is arranged, will be played on the Richmond lot, two on the Petaluma diamond, and the fifth, if the clubs break even in the four contests, on a lot to be decided by Luce and Healey.

If Healey don't want league baseball in Petaluma, the fans in the chicken metropolis don't want it. Healey's word is baseball law in the town across the bay.

BILL JAMES NOW A "BILL"

CHICO, Jan. 14.—Sixty representative Oroville business men, members of the Chico Lodge of Elks, came to this city by special car to attend the initiation of "Big Bill" James of the Boston Braves.

Their advent was heralded by continuous reports of giant crackers attached to the rear end of their car and they were accompanied by a band.

James will leave for Macon, Ga., about February 20, where the team will train.

BOB CLEEK WILL PLAY BASEBALL THIS SEASON

"Bob" Cleek, who formerly played first base for the Richmond Club, stated yesterday that if he returns to his old home at Merced to reside permanently he will condition himself in an effort to land an infield job with the Merced Club. Cleek, who is spending a few days in Richmond, looks to be in fine shape, and it will not take him long to get the kinks out of his arms and legs.

Cleek says that they are already planning for a good, fast club in Merced. Madera, Fresno and Modesto will also get in the fold with fast teams.

"Slim" Keifer, former local infielder, is now living in Selma, says Cleek.

SPORTING GOULASH

Conger, Richmond's new second baseman, is at present pastime away his idle Sundays playing the keystone sack for the Bertillon Hatters, a fast Oakland aggregation. In the game his club played last Sunday, Conger got two cracks out of two times at bat. That he is fast on the bases is shown by the box score, which credits him with two stolen bases. He also had two putouts and no errors.

On the same club with Conger are Billy Menges, Oakland infielder, and "My Boy" Joe Tobin, San Francisco outfielder. Menges got two hits. Tobin crashed one for three bases.

Conger has been hitting the ball hard with the Hatters. His average to date is an even .300. Menges is leading the club with .330, and Tobin is clicking the sphere at a .333 clip.

Bob Cleek, who has seen Christianson in action with Modesto many times, says that the new outfielder is one of those kind of hitters you read about. He don't do his hitting before or after the game, but he cracks 'em during the game.

In Cleek's estimation, "Philo" Mobley, who has pitched several seasons with the fast Modesto Reds, is the fastest and most consistent pitcher among the California semipro. It is seldom that any club gets more than six blows off of Mobley. If he is hit for eight or ten bingles, he manages to keep them pretty well scattered. Before going to Modesto, Mobley was relief pitcher for the Sacramento State League Club in the good old days when Charley Graham was managing the Capital City Club and Fred Brown, now in the cigar business in Sacramento, was first string pitcher.

In speaking of Harvey Christianson, Richmond's new outfielder, the scribe that writes the bush baseball stuff for the San Francisco Daily News, says: "Christy could fill this position (fielder) nicely, but he is liable to get officious, which was his worst fault when he was playing in the State League."

Milwaukee fans were impressed with the style of "Fighting Billy" Murray, who was beaten by a shade by Eddie McGoorty the other night. Although he got a trimming, Murray fought every minute. The Petaluma boy's second invasion of the East promises to be a success. He is getting the fight fans behind him this time, which is something he was never able to do before.

When Murray was bushing it around Sacramento he was one of the most unpopular fighters that ever hit the town. Although Murray won fight after fight, the crowd started to ride him the minute he stepped into the ring. Murray and Mr. Pan have never been close friends. If he can make good friends in the East, it may help him a whole lot.

They sure fall for any kind of a fighter in Australia, to judge from the way some of the bums, who were lucky to get on in a certain-raiser in California, are getting by in the land of "Snowy" Baker.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES BY SCOOP

RICHMOND VS. MARTINEZ ATHLETIC CLUB SATURDAY

Saturday evening the fast basketball quintet of R. U. H. S. will journey to Martinez, where their old rivals, the Martinez Athletic Club, will be taken on. The local school has not played the County Seaters for two years, but the beat at that time was enough to last until now.

Saturday night's game is being played for practice for the championship the locals will fight with Livermore for the C. A. C. A. A. league basketball pennant for this season. The Livermore game will be played in the latter city, probably on January 23.

The Nineteen Fifteen Club, known here better by the name of Psi Sigma, who fell before the onslaughts of the locals in November, strongly predicted that the locals would have no chance against the Martinez team. They have indeed made an excellent record this last season, and will be quite worthy opponents.

Arrangements to take a small crowd are being made by Athletic Manager Cameron. The train will leave here at 4:50 Saturday afternoon, and will return shortly after the game, leaving there at about 8:30.

Quite a satisfactory practice of the basketballers was held in the gymnasium last night. Coach Merriam was present and put the team through the tricks that brought home the bacon so many times last fall.

SIX MONTHS TO DELIVER POSTAL

It took just six months for a postal card mailed by Sergeant Phil Barry of the Richmond police force at Fort Bragg, Mendocino county, to reach Patrolman Sam Wright here. When Wright went to the postoffice yesterday to get his mail he got the card from Barry. The postmark, "Fort Bragg, June 14th," was on the postal.

It is presumed that the card was stuck in one of the mail sacks, and was not discovered until yesterday.

Barry attended the State Aerie of the Eagles at Fort Bragg, and while in the Mendocino wilds thought of his brother officer by sending the card.

BENEFIT SHOW AT LINCOLN, JAN. 20

Elaborate pictorial placards advertising the minstrel performances at the Lincoln school on January 20 were posted on the high school bulletin board yesterday. The performance is for the benefit of the picture machine fund, which is being raised by the Lincoln school. "Hann's Colored Minstrels" occupy a big part of the bill, and the other numbers look as though the evening's entertainment would be worth the price of admission, and the good cause to which the funds will be devoted insures the success of the evening.

Pen Paralysis! Have you got it?

NO, we do not mean merely paralysis of the fingers. We mean another kind of paralysis far more serious; the kind that paralyzes the pen writer—not sometimes but always. Pen writing in this age means needless time waste, needless labor waste, needless fatigue.

Every one who continues to write with the pen in this day of the typewriter is placing himself under a heavy time and labor handicap, a handicap which means partial paralysis of all his energies.

The cure for pen paralysis, the new and certain cure, is the

FIRST WOMAN'S VOLUNTEER RELIEF CORPS ORGANIZED BY THE WOMEN OF GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, Eng.—Not to be outdone by the male sex who are doing glorious work at the front, there has just been organized, by women who are desirous of proving to their country that in times of war, women also may, in manifold ways, held their government, the Women's Volunteer Reserve. The object of the Reserve Corps, whose headquarters are in the Old Bedford College here, is to turn over to the War Office a body of trained women, skilled in first aid, cooking, signaling, telegraphy, marksmanship, carrying dispatches, and driving and handling horses. The photo shows a class receiving instructions in sending messages by means of the telegraph instrument.

GOATS GETS GOAT OF DRIVER;
MAKE MEAL OF WAY BILLS

Two goats, shipped by Wells Fargo, got the "goat" of Harry Yager, Wells Fargo driver, yesterday afternoon.

Yager loaded the goats in his wagon along with numerous packages and bundles. The goats, which were in a crate, were placed directly under his seat.

At Yager's feet was another receptacle. In this he put his way bills.

Yager drove his wagon to the corner of Second and Nevins. There he had occasion to stop. When about to start his horse again, Yager glanced down and saw the goats, enjoying a feast on his bundle of way bills. Half of them had already been eaten.

The goats had stuck their heads through the crate. In their voracious mood, way bills looked as good to them as anything else, so they proceeded to make a meal.

It was without reluctance that Yager deposited the goats at the home of the party they were consigned to.

Fire In Dining Room
Extinguishes Itself

To have a fire in her dining room commit suicide, after it had consumed a china cabinet, a dining chair, a rug on the floor and some of the floor itself, is the remarkable experience of Mrs. Edward T. Coleman, 301 Richmond avenue.

Closing the door of her dining room Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Coleman left the oil heater burning.

After remaining in the back yard for about a half hour, she re-entered the house. She had noticed nothing unusual from the exterior or from the interior of the house. When she opened the door of the dining room, however, she was greeted with outburst of smoke and influx of fresh air. When the smoke had cleared the above named articles were found to be reduced to ashes.

The supposition is that the stove was defective and set fire to the rug by leaking oil, which in turn set fire to the other burned articles. The room, being tightly closed, afforded the fire no fresh oxygen, which lack, combined with choking smoke, soon quenched the fire.

TUNNEL WILL BE COMPLETE ON MARCH 15

According to Superintendent E. J. Carrillo, the municipal tunnel will be completed on March 15. Nine months ago last Monday the work was started.

The concrete lining of the tunnel will be finished January 20, the core will be removed by February 21 and by March 15, according to Carrillo, the paving of the tunnel floor will be completed and the whole job in readiness for the city to accept.

The rock dug out of the tunnel will be used to fill in Old street from Cutting boulevard to Ashland avenue and Central street from Richmond avenue to Cutting boulevard.
